Curriculum Intent statement - Religious Education

It is our intent for the Religious Education at Templenewsam Halton Primary School to play a significant role in the fostering of children's spiritual, moral, social and cultural development. It is essential that children learn to celebrate differences whilst developing a sense of their own identity and where they belong within the local, national and global community. Through enquiry, children will explore the main world religions and gain a more in-depth knowledge of the numerous origins, beliefs, values, practices and traditions that exist in our diverse multi-cultural society. The promotion of respect, open mindedness and tolerance towards others prepares children for adult hood, life in the wider World and enables them to combat prejudice. Religious education at TNHPS will be adventurous, communicative, expressive, meaningful, inspiring, engaging and challenging.
